

Good reasons to lease

Your equity base and credit line remain intact, leaving you greater financial scope for action.

Leasing costs are payable alongside utilization of the leased equipment. You pay your leasing instalments from the income generated by the investment.

Leasing costs are fixed over the entire term of the agreement, giving you an unambiguously clear cost and planning basis.

Your leasing agreement can be tailored individually to your needs, e.g. as regards the term, payment procedure and method of payment – and also in respect of further utilization of the leased item after expiry of the agreement.

The tax advantage is all in your favour. Your investment is shown as neutral in the balance sheet, as it is the leasing company which capitalizes the leased item. The leasing instalments are also accepted as operating expenses and are fully tax deductible.

Practising an active accounting policy will help you achieve improved ratios, and exert a positive influence on your business credit rating.

As a lessee, your administrative input is far lower. We take care of much of the spade work, for example in the procurement, depreciation and recycling of the leased item.

You can afford to invest regularly in innovative technologies. Our custom-tailored leasing arrangements allow you to open up your scope for follow-up investment.

Depending on your individual investment and corporate situation, leasing can offer you additional advantages.

Individually tailored contracts outlining the ideal redemption plan, leasing term, payment schedule and payment method for you are not only possible but are already everyday customer-oriented reality.